BCOA HEALTH COMMITTEE

Submitted by Ginger (V.E.) Jones

The Aristocrat

The charter for the Health Committee, as directed by the president, is to provide health-related information to our membership as well as low cost health screening tests at our annual national event. In addition to this, I expanded what Alice Reese had already set into motion when she helped establish the Borzoi Donor Advised Fund with the Canine Health Foundation with the specific goal of heart research for Borzoi. I began by reviewing research grant proposals from both the CHF and the Morris Animal Foundation and making recommendations to the board as to which studies I thought we should financially support based on their benefit to our breed or all breeds of dogs. Many clubs contribute to each study and this "joining" of the forces of funding has allowed many research grant projects to come to fruition that otherwise would never have seen the light of day.

As time went on and I continued my role as the Health Chairman, I realized that it was significantly important to have a current health survey of our breed so as to be able to first, be aware of health issues affecting the breed, and secondly, be able to understand the extent to which these diseases are present. The statistics of this survey can then substantiate the need for specific health related research. The health survey came to fruition the beginning of this year, with the assistance of the Orthopedic Foundation for Animals (OFA) and to date we have over 500 dogs' information recorded. I encourage all breeders to participate in the survey with as many dogs as possible. It's a very quick and easy survey to fill out and an additional benefit is that you are able to see all statistics in real time mode! If you have not yet completed a survey for your dog, please do so at the following web address: http://www.offa.org/surveys/survey_Borzoi.html

Every two years, the CHF offers a Parent Club Conference in St. Louis where they bring together all of the research personnel that has been working on funded projects for the past two years and they share the information and results of their research projects with each National breed clubs CHF liaison. Most of these projects also receive contributions from many other sources including, but not limited to, the pet food and products industry as well as the pharmaceutical industry. Millions of dollars are spent each year trying to make a better and healthier life for the canine population and assist the breeders by providing better tools and medications to reach these objectives. While attending these seminars, I've had an outstanding opportunity to discuss many of the health concerns Borzoi breeders have and locate future seminar speakers for our Nationals events who are experts in those fields. I've also had many conversations with other club liaisons regarding fund-raising for future research projects and petitioning the CHF for breed specific research studies. In general, most studies are for 2 year grants only although there are a few "acorn" grants for one year projects that generally set the stage for other more intensive studies.

Annually I contact the CHF and inquire about heart research projects for Borzoi or in combination with other sighthound breeds. I realize that our membership is still anxiously awaiting this project to come to it's fruition after contributing to the Fund for several years now. Each year our request is submitted to the research community specializing in heart disease research, however, this is a very small community. To date, there has not yet been someone available with the required credentials to conduct this study. However, what is learned from the research currently being conducted can be applied to future studies on other breeds so all is not lost or totally isolated here.

In an effort to help expedite research projects, the OFA joined forces with the Canine Health Foundation and the National Breed Parent Clubs and established a DNA Repository for the canine research community. This consists of storing DNA samples in either blood or swab form along with a health history report that identifies and diseases associated with the specific sample. The DNA repository assists researchers by significantly reducing the time it takes to collect enough affected and control samples to begin the scientific portion of their study. As soon as the program was launched, I began offering DNA clinics at every year's national event with the fee being totally funded through our member's contributions; free to all participants. The objective is to establish a significant amount of Borzoi DNA in our bank on as short a time period as possible. However, if only healthy control samples are submitted, we'll be hard pressed to convince the research community that our Borzoi have any health issues or that the owners of affected dogs are willing or interested enough to participate in programs available to them.

So, what criterion does Morris Animal Foundation and the Canine Health Foundation look at when they are helping to establish and prioritize grants for breed research? Several things: urgency of the need – is this a debilitating disease affecting a large percentage of the breed population where breeders have been helpless in attempts to control it? Is this a widespread disease that affects many different breeds of dogs or other species as well, as is the case with cancer? Can we provide a better diagnostic tool or medication for breeders and veterinarians that improves disease diagnostics or manages, prevents or cures a particular disease? Can the research be performed in a period of time no longer than 2 to 3 years? Is the proposed study methodology sound science and uses recognized and accepted processes by veterinarian medical society? I'm sure that there are probably other criteria that come into play as well, but these are some of the significant one. Both Morris and CHF have a strict and thorough review process with each of the grants that are supported and they are monitored on a quarterly basis with the researcher providing their progress to date on the objectives listed in the study.

Next steps: While the Borzoi Donor Advised Fund established with the Canine Health Foundation has been specifically set aside for heart research, contributions made to BCOA health that are not specifically identified for "Borzoi Donor Advised Fund" are deposited into the BCOA Account and are recorded in the Health Committee Ledger. These funds are used to pay a large portion of the costs associated with running the national clinics and providing a seminar speaker. These funds are also used to contribute to research projects offered by CHF or Morris that will in some way contribute to the Borzoi breed or all breeds of dogs. When considering which project proposals to recommend to the board for financial consideration, I utilize the tools available to ascertain the breed's needs. I use the statistics recorded in the CERF, OFA, CHF, PEN HIPP and CHIC DNA BANK to indicate the breed priorities. In addition to these, we also have the current statistics for the breed survey. With this in mind and in light of some recent post on the Borzoi News List regarding Borzoi health research, I wanted to share with all the Borzoi community the most current statistics on diseases that affect the Borzoi breed and their incidence in the breed by rank. In the graph below, you will see the number of affected dogs (males and bitches combined) and the percentage of the population affected.

Table with 2 columns: Health Issue, Percentage. Includes Dental Disorders (20%), Kidney, Respiratory, Eye (16%), Liver Disorder (9%), Blood/Lymph Disorder (6%), Ear Disorder (5%).

It is from this prioritized list that I determine the health clinics and seminars to offer at the upcoming Nationals events. While, in general, the order of the above items do not change drastically from year to year, I try to cover the top ten items on a rotating basis utilizing the expertise local to the area for seminar speakers and topics.

So, if you want to know how to help make progress happen with Borzoi health, take the on line survey, participate in the FREE DNA REPOSITORY CLINIC and discounted health clinics offered at a Nationals. Purchase the Jerold Bell DVD on genetics and modes of inheritance in Borzoi pedigrees. This is for sale on the BCOA web site and shortly, the DVD of Dr. Nachreiner's Thyroid Disease seminar will be available there as well. Or, get involved in a fund raising project to support future research - all volunteers WELCOME!! §

2008 Corrections

Inadvertently omitted from last year's Rally stats were the following two dogs and their owners. Both dogs competed in Novice Rally:

Sterling Emmett Honeycutt – K Convertini, two scores averaging 92.5

Jedawn-Jubilee Kingdom of Heaven, RN – E Bucholz, three scores averaging 81

My apologies to both owners and their dogs on their wonderful accomplishments.
